DERMATOLOGICAL INNOVATION

ACNEUS, ROSACEA, IRRITATION

The end of "red cheeks"

Why is sensitive skin so often red and itchy?

The skin contains capillaries in the dermis which provide the nutrition for the epidermis. In these vessels which give the skin its glow and its light... its edge which they often react to, those things due to the epidermal irritation and/or damage (the blood vessels capillaries) which stretch and dilate the sides of the face. These are the skin's red cheeks.

Redness and itching are not symptoms for Rosacea, Irritation and Acne. They are symptoms of the epidermal irritation and/or damage (the blood vessels capillaries) which stretch and dilate the sides of the face. These are the skin's red cheeks.
